Paris Expo Porte de Versailles - Hall 03.1

A unique 5 000 sq.m space dedicated to design in the heart of Paris!

We are delighted to meet you for a new edition of the Puces du Design at Paris Expo Porte de Versailles from December 2 to 5 !

Imagined more than 20 years ago by Fabien Bonillo, Les Puces du Design are more relevant than ever: they offer in the same place in the heart of Paris, a selection of design specialists, vintage and contemporary, who offer pieces designed to last over time and designed to adapt to our planning and decoration needs, professional or private.

On Les Puces du Design, you will find iconic pieces created by the greatest designers of the 20th century, selected for you by design antiques, French or European.

You will also discover the current creations of contemporary design brands or imagined and manufactured by Designers Makers.

All these creations have in common to favor an original design, manufacturing qualities and a style that will allow them to last.

Another interest of this next edition of the Puces du Design, a large exhibition prepared by the design historian Thibault Lannuzel which traces the course of French designers during the period of prosperity of the "Trente Glorieuses".

It was at this time that the profession of designer appeared as we know it today. A new collaboration was therefore established between the manufacturer and the designer to lead to the resolution of technical problems at the best cost and to the proposal of new forms which still meet the tastes and needs of modern life today.

With nearly a hundred pieces dating from 1945 to 1973, this exhibition "The French Designers in the Age of Growth" clearly shows the importance and the still current relevance of these creations conceived in a context which is nevertheless very different from that of that we are going through today.

With more than hundred pieces dating from 1945 to 1973, this exhibition "The French Designers in the Age of Growth" shows the importance and the relevance still current of these creations conceived in a context however very different from that which we cross today.

Another strong point of this 41st edition of the Puces du Design, a journey inside the event conceived as a declaration: "Luminère, Mon Amour" !

Because light has a major role in our lives, because acquiring an original luminaire can truly change the soul of an interior and because lamp design has been the source of some of the most beautiful pieces. from the history of design ... we wanted to pay tribute to this somewhat magical object ...

There will therefore be lights that have marked the history of design through their originality and those that stand out in contemporary creation by their unique, original and sometimes also poetic approach ...

All these lights will be highlighted on the participants' stands, thus offering a rich and subjective itinerary of this essential and fabulous creation whose role is to tame the light ...

Thus, this new rendez-vous with Les Puces du Design from December 2 to 5 will be more than ever an opportunity to reconnect with the great virtues of design: both practical and functional; but also and above all artistic and wonderful !
